SPAIN: A WINE NATION

With an incredible Spanish winemaking history stretching back over 3,000 years, Spain's viticultural roots run deeper than any other country. The Phoenicians, ancient traders and explorers, first planted vines in the sun-drenched region around 1100 BC, setting the stage for a remarkable journey. As the Romans conquered the land in the 2nd century BC, they brought with them new grape varieties and winemaking techniques, transforming the industry and leaving an indelible mark on Spanish wine culture. Fast forward to the 19th century, when the phylloxera epidemic ravaged vineyards across Europe, threatening to bring the Spanish wine industry to its knees. So to combat this, Spanish winemakers replanted their vineyards with phylloxera-resistant American rootstock. This bold move not only saved the industry but also paved the way for a new era of Spanish wine. Today, Spain stands proud as the third-largest wine producer in the world, a testament to its enduring passion and dedication. From the classic reds of Rioja to the crisp whites of Rías Baixas and the complex fortified wines of Jerez, Spanish wines offer an unparalleled diversity of styles and flavours. Every sip of Spanish wine tells a story, reflecting the country's rich history, vibrant culture and unique terroir.
