SPAIN: A WINE NATION

“SPAIN IS A PREMIER GLOBAL WINE NATION,
HOLDING THE LARGEST VINEYARD SURFACE
AREA IN THE WORLD”

Green Land

Cool and misty climate. Extended all the way to Basque Country. White wines made from Albariño and Godello and red grapes such as Mencia is arguably northwest Spain's best red.

The Meseta

Almost two-thirds of all Spain's vineyards are on these arid plains. Most of the vineyards might be hot and dry, nighttime temperatures can be cool as a result. This is the case of Sierra de Gredos focusing upon local varietals like Garnacha, is fueling a revolutionary turnabout in the land of Madrid.

Ebro River Valley

Among the varieties grown here, Tempranillo is king but Garnacha, Mazuelo, Graciano are generating new ideas and styles in the region. International grapes such as Cabernet, Syrah and Merlot have been more recently planted. Other areas also growing in popularity, especially the Garnacha driven DOs of Aragon, Campo de Borja, Calatayud and Carinena.

Duero River Valley

The Duero River travels 460 miles from high in the Sistema Ibérico, forming part of the border between Spain and Portugal, produces wines from the vineyards around the Duero River and Toro for reds and Rueda for whites. Tempranillo, in the name of Tinto Fino and Tinta de Toro, shines brightly in this region. On the southern side, Rueda has claimed its own spotlight with the Verdejo grape.

Mediterranean Coast

This massive area includes Cataluña and Levante. Those vineyard areas share exposure to warm winds of the Mediterranean Sea, as in Penedés, home of the well-known Spanish sparkling wines or remote and mountainous as in Priorat. The Levante area of Valencia and Murcia, have been producing delightful wines the last two decades.

Andalusia

The ancient lands of southwestern Spain have been planted to vineyards for nearly 3,000 years. Dessert wines have been produced within areas in Montilla-Moriles and Málaga. Andalucía's most famous wine area, Jerez (Sherry), receives more rainfall than most other parts of southern Spain. That rain is captured by the special limestone-rich soil; albariza, producing the most unique Spanish wines.

The Islands

The Balearic islands of Mallorca and Menorca offer an increasing number of small production wines from indigenous and international grape varieties. The Canaries—Phylloxera, a parasite, attacked major vineyards all around Europe in the 19th century. The Canary Islands survived, being strategically located with volcanic soil.
